

(5) Dr. Cooper said that Mr. Baier would be the best source of information about Mrs. Gibson as he lived near her and did not like her.

(6) Dr. Cooper knew nothing of Mrs. Gibson stealing or lying and the only peculiarity in her he has noticed is that she has seemed obsessed with the idea that she was being persecuted. Dr. Cooper is very careful in the way he says this and puts it in a way of wondering whether it is an idea of his own and not of Mrs. Gibson's. However I think he really believes in Mrs. Gibson's obsession.

(7) Dr. Cooper emphatically denies that he has ever spoken to or advised any of the Mills family or Mrs. Gibson. He added that four years ago George Totten came to him and asked him more or less the same questions about the Mills which I did. He said he has never seen Jim or Henry Mills and that the only time he ever saw Charlotte was when she was casually pointed out to him when he was lunching at Brums.

Dr. Cooper struck me as being entirely frank though it is possible that additional questions along any line might bring additional answers as he did not volunteer very much.

I think his statement concerning the Mills very interesting for the following reasons:

Di Martini's reports show that he was told several times that Mrs. Gibson within three or four days after the
